

Execution and timing failures are separate problems

CE: execution baseline only

Execution here means the forced letter at requested N, not strict trajectory correctness.
Timing is the first crossing at N. These four exclusive outcomes distinguish execution failure from controller failure.